This document relates to:

Bauer et al. v. al Qaeda Islamic Army, et al., 02-cv-7236 (GBD)(FM)

The Bauer Wrongful Death Plaintiffs' Motion for Final Judgments

For the reasons set forth below and the statements contained in the Declaration of Dorothea M. Capone, Esq., the Bauer Plaintiffs identified in Exhibit A to said Declaration, by and through their counsel, Baumeister & Samuels, P.C., respectfully move this Court for an Order awarding them (1) solatium damages with a punitive damage multiplier of 3.44 for the losses suffered by the immediate family members of said Plaintiffs' decedents in the same amounts awarded to the families of the Havlish and certain of the Ashton Plaintiffs; (2) prejudgment statutory simple interest at a rate of nine percent per annum on the solatium awards running from September 11, 2001 until the date of judgment to the extent the injuries arose in New York State, and prejudgment interest at a rate of 4.96 percent per annum, compounded annually on injuries that arose in other states; (3) economic losses with a 3.44 punitive damage multiplier as supported by expert reports and analysis attached as Exhibits to the Capone Declaration, and (4) permission for the remaining Plaintiffs represented by Bauer counsel to seek solatium damages in the same amounts awarded to the Plaintiffs identified herein, and economic damages as calculated by experts and/or prior determinations at a later date.

Having already been awarded partial judgment for the conscious pain and suffering of their decedents, the awards in the attached proposed order will constitute final awards in those cases identified in Exhibit A to the Capone Declaration.

I. Procedural Background

On August 31, 2015, relying on evidence and arguments submitted by various Plaintiffs in this consolidated multi-district litigation arising out of the September 11, 2001 terror attacks, this Court issued a liability default judgment against Iran on behalf of all of the Ashton Plaintiffs, including the Bauer Plaintiffs identified in this motion.¹ See 03-md-1570 (02-cv-6977) (S.D.N.Y.)(GBD), Doc. No. 3014. Shortly thereafter, the Ashton wrongful death Plaintiffs moved for partial summary judgment as to the conscious pain and suffering their decedents endured before they died. The December 28, 2015 Report and Recommendation filed by Magistrate Maas recommended that this Court grant a compensatory damage award of $2,000,000 per decedent together with a 3.44 punitive damage multiplier² for the conscious pain and suffering endured by each of the Ashton wrongful death decedents. See 03-md-1570 (02-cv-6977)(S.D.N.Y.)(GBD)(FM), Doc. No. 3175. This Report also concluded that to the extent the Ashton wrongful death claims arose out of injuries sustained in New York State, prejudgment statutory simple interest at the rate of nine percent per annum would be applied on the conscious pain and suffering award, and for those injuries that arose outside of New York State, a prejudgment interest rate of 4.96 percent per annum, compounded annually would be applied. See 03-md-1570 (02-cv-6977)(S.D.N.Y.)(GBD)(FM), Doc. No. 3175. The District Court adopted this Report in its entirety by Order dated March 9, 2016. See 03-md-1570 (02-cv-6977)(S.D.N.Y.)(GBD)(FM), Doc. No. 3229.

² In his July 30, 2012 Report and Recommendation filed in the Havlish action, Magistrate Judge Maas adopted 3.44 as the appropriate punitive damage multiplier to be applied to all of the claims arising out of the September 11, 2001 terror attacks, noting it is the “standard ratio applicable to cases arising out of terrorist attacks”, citing Estate of Bland v. Islamic Republic of Iran, 831 F.Supp. 2d 150, 158 (D.D.C. 2011). See 03-md-1570 (02-cv-6977)(S.D.N.Y.)(GBD) (FM), Doc. No. 2618, Entered 07/30/02.

This Court has also previously considered the issues of solatium and economic damages in connection with the September 11, 2001 terror attacks, particularly those suffered by the Havlish and certain of the Ashton Plaintiffs, and determined that awards to the estates of the victims and their immediate family members was proper and prejudgment interest is warranted. See 03-md-1570 (02-cv-6977)(S.D.N.Y.)(GBD)(FM), Doc. No. 2623, Entered 10/03/12, and Doc. No. 3300, Entered 06/16/16.

For the reasons below, as well as those set forth in the prior motion for partial judgment made by the Ashton wrongful death Plaintiffs, the Bauer Plaintiffs identified in Exhibit A move this Court for an Order awarding them the same amount as was awarded to the Havlish and certain of the Ashton Plaintiffs for their solatium losses together with prejudgment interest and economic damages as described below.

II. Damages

Section 1605A of the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act (“FSIA”) creates an exception to sovereign immunity pursuant to which a U.S. citizen can sue a foreign state that is, or was, a state sponsor of terrorism, and any official, employee or agent of that foreign state for acts of terrorism committed while acting within the scope of his or her office, employment or agency. The statute specifies that damages are available “for personal injury or death”, 28 U.S.C. § 1605A(a)(1) and (c)(4), and include “economic damages, solatium, pain and suffering, and punitive damages.” See 28 U.S.C. § 1605A(c)(4). Courts addressing the damages available under the statute have held that the “estates of those who [died] can recover economic losses stemming from the wrongful death of the decedent; family members can recover solatium for their emotional injury; and all plaintiffs can recover punitive damages.” Valore v. Islamic Republic of Iran, 700 F.Supp.2d 52, 83 (D.D.C. 2010).

In accordance with the terms of the statute, and since they have already received an award pertaining to the conscious pain and suffering of their decedents,³ the Bauer Plaintiffs identified herein are entitled to compensation under Section 1605A for their solatium damages, the estates of their decedents are entitled to recover their economic losses, and all are entitled to recover punitive damages as a result of the wrongful death of their decedents.

A. Solatium Damages

As set forth above, 28 U.S.C. 1605A specifically provides for an award of solatium damages. Under this provision, family members of a decedent may recover for “the mental anguish, bereavement, and grief that those with a close relationship to the decedent experience as a result of the decedent’s death, as well as the harm caused by the loss of a decedent’s society and comfort.” Dammarell v. Islamic Republic of Iran, 281 F. Supp. 2d 105, 196 (D.D.C. 2003), vacated on other grounds, 404 F.Supp. 2d 261 (D.D.C. 2005). Other courts have previously noted that “[a]cts of terrorism are by their very definition extreme and outrageous and intended to cause the highest degree of emotional distress.” Belkin v. Islamic Republic of Iran, 667 F. Supp. 2d 8, 22 (D.D.C. 2009). In cases brought under this exception to the FSIA, solatium claims have been treated as analogous to claims for the intentional infliction of emotional distress. See, e.g., Surette v. Islamic Republic of Iran, 231 F.Supp. 2d 260, 267 n.5 (D.D.C. 2002) (treating solatium claim as “‘indistinguishable’ from the claim of intentional infliction of emotional distress.”) (quoting Wagner v. Islamic Republic of Iran, 172 F. Supp. 2d 128, 135 n.11 (D.D.C. 2001)).

When previously awarding solatium damages in the Havlish cases, this Court looked at the framework established by District Court Judge Royce C. Lamberth in Estate of Heiser v. Islamic Republic of Iran, 466 F. Supp. 2d 229 (D.D.C. 2006) where he awarded solatium damages to each spouse of a deceased victim in the amount of $8 million, to each parent in the amount of $5 million, and to each sibling in the amount of $2.5 million. Id. This formula may, however, be adjusted upward or downward when circumstances warrant. See, e.g., Estate of Bland v. Islamic Republic of Iran, 831 F. Supp. 2d 150, 156 (D.D.C. 2011); Valore, 700 F. Supp. 2d at 85.

Analyzing the solatium claims of the families of the Havlish victims who perished in the September 11, 2001 terrorist attacks, Magistrate Judge Maas recognized that the decedents’ immediate family members suffered, and continue to suffer, “profound agony and grief and, [w]orse yet, ... are faced with frequent reminders of the events of that day.” See 03-md-1570 (02-cv-6977)(S.D.N.Y.)(GBD)(FM), Doc. No. 2618, Entered 07/30/12, at pp. 10 - 12. He noted in his July 30, 2012 Report and Recommendation the “extraordinarily tragic circumstances surrounding the September 11th attacks and their indelible impact on the lives of the victims’ families”, and concluded that an upward departure from Judge Lambert’s framework in Heiser was appropriate. Id. In that Report, Magistrate Judge Maas recommended that solatium damages be awarded to the immediate family members of the victims of the September 11, 2001 terror attacks in the following amounts:

Relationship to Decedent	Solatium Award
Spouse	$12,500,000
Parent	$8,500,000
Child	$8,500,000
Sibling	$4,250,000

These exact amounts were adopted by this Court in its October 3, 2012 Order (See 03-md-1570 (02-cv-6977)(S.D.N.Y.)(GBD)(FM)), Doc. No. 2623, and replicated in this Court’s June 16, 2016 Order relating to the claims of certain of the Ashton Plaintiffs, See Doc. No. 3300. The solatium losses suffered by the Bauer claimants before the Court in this application are legally and factually comparable to those suffered by the Havlish and Ashton claimants. Each of the deaths was sudden and unexpected and was the result of the defendants’ extreme acts of malice. The decedents were civilians whose deaths were intended to create an environment of fear and terror. Many family members have no private cemetery plot or gravestone to serve as a remembrance of their loved ones, and many will never experience a sense of closure that might otherwise be expected following the death of an immediate family member.

It is respectfully requested that the Court grant awards of solatium and punitive damages to the immediate family members of the Bauer Plaintiffs in the same amounts as ordered in Havlish and subsequently adopted in certain of the Ashton cases.

B. Economic Damages

In addition to being awarded solatium damages, Section 1605A provides for the recovery of economic losses. See 28 U.S.C. § 1605A(c). This provision is “designed to compensate [a] decedent's heirs-at-law for economic losses which result from [the] decedent's premature death.” Flatow v. Islamic Republic of Iran, 999 F. Supp. 1, 27 (D.D.C. 1998). Accordingly, “the beneficiaries of each decedent's estate [are] ... entitled to recover the present value of economic damages, including lost wages that the decedents might reasonably have been expected to earn but for their wrongful deaths.” Valore v. Islamic Republic of Iran, 700 F. Supp. 2d 52, 81-82 (D.D.C. 2010), citing Heiser, 466 F. Supp. 2d 229. In a series of decisions issuing final judgments against the Islamic Republic of Iran in the District of Columbia pursuant to this statute, District Judge Lamberth has repeatedly held Iran “liable for the economic damages caused to decedents' estates.” See, e.g., Roth v. Islamic Republic of Iran, 78 F. Supp. 3d 379, 399-400 (D.D.C. 2015), quoting Valore, 700 F. Supp. 2d at 78.

This Court also awarded economic damages to each of the Plaintiffs in the Havlish case and thereafter to several of the Ashton Plaintiffs by adopting the economic loss calculations contained in those Plaintiffs' economic expert reports. See 03-md-1570 (02-cv-6977) (S.D.N.Y.)(GBD)(FM), Doc. No. 2623, Entered 10/03/12, and Doc. No. 3300, Entered 06/16/16.

The Bauer Plaintiffs respectfully ask this Court to award economic damages to the families of each of the decedents identified in the attached Exhibit A. None of the plaintiffs listed in Exhibit A sought compensation through the September 11th Victim Compensation Fund of 2001 (the "VCF"), and instead litigated against the airline and security company defendants in the Southern District of New York before the Honorable Alvin K. Hellerstein. The Bauer Plaintiffs retained experts who rendered opinions as to the economic losses each family suffered as a result of the wrongful deaths of their loved ones. Attached as Exhibit B are copies of the economic expert reports pertaining to the claims of each of Bauer Plaintiffs that are the subject of this motion. To insure these economic loss calculations were current, counsel for the Bauer Plaintiffs consulted with the same expert they had previously retained to obtain information as to the updated present value of these economic losses. Also attached are copies of the curriculum vitae of these experts.

Accordingly, the Bauer Plaintiffs respectfully request that they be awarded economic damages together with the previously adopted punitive damages multiplier as set forth in the attached Exhibit A, which represents the economic losses previously calculated by the Plaintiffs' economic expert brought to present value.

III. Conclusion

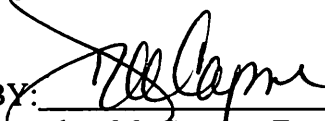

For all of the reasons herein, as well as those set forth in the previous submissions of the Ashton Plaintiffs and the Havlish Plaintiffs, the Bauer wrongful death plaintiffs identified in Exhibit A respectfully request that this Court award (1) solatium damages with a punitive damage multiplier of 3.44 for the losses suffered by the immediate family members of the Bauer Plaintiffs' decedents in the same amounts awarded by this Court to the families of the Havlish and certain of the Ashton Plaintiffs; (2) prejudgment statutory simple interest at a rate of nine percent per annum on the solatium awards running from September 11, 2001 until the date of judgment to the extent the injuries arose in New York State, and prejudgment interest at a rate of 4.96 percent per annum, compounded annually on injuries that arose in other states; (3) economic losses with a 3.44 punitive damage multiplier as supported by expert reports and analysis attached as Exhibits to the Capone Declaration, and (4) permission for the remaining Plaintiffs represented by Bauer counsel to seek solatium damages in the same amounts awarded to the Plaintiffs identified herein, and economic damages as calculated by experts and/or prior determinations at a later date.
